and is so weak today that he can scarcely raise his head. The doctors think he will recover.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been from a defective flue in the kitchen. The estimated loss to the building and furniture could not be ascertained. It was insured for $4,500, but it is certain that the loss will greatly exceed this amount.

The firemen responded promptly to the alarm and did excellent service, saving the front part of the building from becoming a total loss. The greatest damage in the front part of the house was confined to the second and third floors, the furniture on the first floor being but little damaged by the fire.—Journal-Miner.

Parker Pretends Being Crazy.

A radical change has come over the demeanor of Parker, the condemned murderer now in jail awaiting the decision of the supreme court on his appeal. For weeks he was quite morose and quiet, bordering on sullenness at times, and this has changed now to a feigning of insanity. Last night he is said to have made the county jail ring with echoes of his yells, apparently in line with other actions of feigned insanity. He goes about his cell and the corridor of the jail pretending to be picking up pins and other objects. It is expected that a decision will be rendered in his case next week by the supreme court.—Journal-Miner.
